Faculty Position at Emory University
Department of Mathematics & Computer Science

The Department of Mathematics & Computer Science at Emory University invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Discrete Mathematics. Appointments will be at the Assistant Professor level; outstanding senior candidates will also be considered, subject to approval. Applicants must have a PhD in mathematics or computer science, have demonstrated exceptional research ability, and have strong records or promise as undergraduate and graduate teachers and advisors. Ideal candidates will have research interests that complement and enhance existing departmental strengths in probabilistic and extremal combinatorics.

Applications consisting of a cover letter, CV, research and teaching statements and three letters of recommendation directly from recommenders should be submitted via Mathjobs.org. Informal inquiries via email can be sent to the hiring committee (dmsearch2014@mathcs.emory.edu). Screening begins December 1, 2013, and will continue until the position is filled. For additional information about the department and university please see: http://www.mathcs.emory.edu/ .

Emory University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer and welcomes applications from women and members of underrepresented minority groups.
