Lecturer in Computer Science
Emory University
Atlanta, GA

Emory University’s Mathematics & Computer Science Department invites applications for a full-time faculty position as Lecturer in Computer Science, to begin in Fall 2018. Appointments are for a period of three years with the possibilities of renewals and promotions within the lecture track, which includes Senior Lecturer and Professor of Pedagogy, Practice and Performance; for additional details, see the Emory College of Arts and Sciences Guidelines for Review of Lecture-Track Faculty: http://college.emory.edu/faculty/faculty/review-and-promotion.html

Applicants must have a PhD in Computer Science or a related discipline and will be expected to provide outstanding teaching, advising, and service related to the undergraduate programs. All areas of specialization will be considered. Responsibilities include 1) teaching five courses per year; 2) advising undergraduate students; 3) supervising and training graduate student instructors; and 4) supporting the education mission of the college through department and college committees and programs participation.

Applications consisting of a cover letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy and career goals, evidence of teaching excellence, and a minimum of three letters of recommendation (at least one of which addresses your teaching) can be submitted via https://apply.interfolio.com/45171. Informal inquiries are invited by email to cslect2017@mathcs.emory.edu. Screening starts December 1, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. For additional information about the department, please see: http://www.mathcs.emory.edu.
