

Tenure-Track Faculty Position
Computational Mathematics
Emory University
Atlanta, GA

Emory University's Mathematics & Computer Science Department invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in Computational Mathematics, to begin in Fall 2018. Appointments are expected to be at the Assistant Professor level, but truly exceptional candidates may be considered for senior appointments. Applicants must demonstrate outstanding research ability and have a PhD in Mathematics, Computer Science, or a closely related field. Applicants should also have strong records, or promise, as undergraduate and graduate teachers. Ideal candidates will have interdisciplinary interests that complement and enhance Emory's current and vibrant research strengths in numerical linear algebra, networks, inverse problems, numerical optimization, numerical partial differential equations, and computational fluid dynamics. For more details on Emory's faculty, graduate students, postdocs, research and teaching activities in Computational Mathematics, see <http://www.mathcs.emory.edu/Research/Area/ScientificComputing/> .

Applications consisting of a cover letter, CV, research and teaching statements, and three letters of recommendation directly from recommenders can be submitted via <http://apply.interfolio.com/45261> . Informal inquiries about the position are also invited by email to compmathsearch2017@mathcs.emory.edu. Screening starts December 1, 2017, and will continue until the position is filled. For additional information about the department, please see <http://www.mathcs.emory.edu> .

Emory University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action/Disability/Veteran employer. Women, minorities, persons with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply. Emory University is committed to student and faculty diversity, equity, and inclusion. In your cover letter or in a separate statement, please reflect upon your experience and vision regarding the teaching and mentorship of students from diverse backgrounds.
